

Quality policy

„Experience the joy of construction with LEONHARD WEISS, by managing our company economically and securing the future for the benefit of all of us. “

Quality is what makes our work stand out, it drives us to improve continuously, is the core of our competitiveness and thrills our customers. With excellent performance, adherence to schedules and economic efficiency we want to make “the joy of construction” tangible.

LEONHARD WEISS is already successfully certified according to ISO 9001:2015 since 1995. We always consider quality from a holistic point of view. Beginning with our suppliers and subcontractors, we believe in reliable partners, who fulfil our quality requirements. Our employees are also fundamentally important. Therefore, in addition to an open culture of failure, we support the capacities of our employees and strengthen their quality awareness. In addition to that, we have an integrated decentralised quality management organisation, which is expertly supervised by the Integrated Management System. In addition to the quality requirements of our customers, we commit to legal rules and standards. By means of annual audits, external ones, as well as internal ones, we regularly monitor our processes and the adherence to our internal rules and standards. We consider audits an important instrument for identifying risks and potential for improvement.

The quality policy at LEONHARD WEISS is also ruled by the following principles:

- to fulfil the requirements of our customers and thus preserve and support their satisfaction,
- to recognise potential risks in our business processes early-on, to evaluate them and initiate suitable measures,
- to fulfil the legal and official requirements and stipulations in connection with our business activities and
- to continuously improve and further develop the Integrated Management System.
